

Royal Palm Veterinary Hospital

Believes that preventative wellness care is an important plan for keeping your pets healthy and happy for many years.

Two main way of accomplishing this is:

1) Vaccines: Vaccines are necessary to provide our pets with the immunity they need to fight off both life threatening and highly contagious illnesses and diseases.

Core vaccines are vaccines that are recommended regardless of risk factor and can pose human health concerns and can be fatal to your pet.

Core vaccines for dogs include: Rabies, Distemper, Hepatitis and Parvo virus.

Core vaccines for cats include: Rabies, Panleukopenia, Rhinotracheitis and Calci virus.

 For more information on Core and Non Core vaccines check out our website at royalpalmvet.com and select "Canine Vaccination Guidelines"

2) Blood work: Because our pets can not talk to us and rarely show signs of pain or illness, chemistry blood work is crucial in understanding the functioning of their vital organs such as the Heart, Liver and Kidneys. This is a "window" to your pet's body and is as important not only as a diagnostic tool and a presurgical monitor, but a baseline value as your pet ages. The CBC will give us information on hydration status, anemia, infection, the blood's clotting ability, and information on the immune system. Early blood work can help identify major diseases and illnesses before they become critical problems.

A New Special Vaccine Package is now available to Save you money and give your pet the BEST care.

Our package combines the Core vaccines recommended by the American Animal Hospital Association and both the Chemistry Profile and a CBC.
